

Evidence-Based Governance in the Electronic Age: The Importance of Record Keeping for Good Governance

Running Order Session 3, Thursday March 27, 2003, 0800 to 1000 EDT

Sites: Washington, Ghana, Tanzania (including Zanzibar delegates), Sierra Leone,
The Gambia (audio only), Uganda

Time	Minutes	Activity
0800	2 minutes	Introduction and welcome from Washington
0802	20 minutes	Introduction and welcome of all sites
0822	1 minute	Introduction to the video film on Evidence-Based Governance in the Electronic Age
0823	14 minutes	Video film
0837	1 minute	Introduction to Part 1: the significance of records as the basis for accountability and the protection of citizens' rights
0838	25 minutes	Cross-site discussion of the significance of records as the basis for accountability and the protection of citizens' rights and entitlements. Questions for discussion: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What steps are in place in your administration to protect records necessary to provide a sound basis for accountability to citizens? • How would you like to see record-keeping systems improved to support public sector management, particularly in the financial, legal, and administrative sectors of government? • Whether or not your country has freedom of information legislation in place, how does your government assist citizens to access the information that they require to assess the government's actions on their behalf? What changes would you like to see?
0903	1 minute	Introduction to Part 2: the significance of records for electronic government
0904	25 minutes	Cross-site discussion on the significance of records for electronic government. Questions for discussion: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What steps is your administration taking to protect evidence in the establishment of electronic government? • Do paper records have ongoing importance in an electronic environment? • What do you think should be done to improve the protection of evidence in the transition to electronic government?
0929	1 minute	Introduction to Part 3: the way forward in strengthening the management of records, paper and electronic, as evidence
0930	25 minutes	Cross-site discussion on the way forward. Question for discussion: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What steps do you think are necessary to ensure that official records in your country are available on demand to support the needs of the government and of citizens?
0955	5 minutes	Wrap-up and closing remarks
1000		End of video conference